WORK AND WAIT.

A husbandman, who many years had plowed his fields and sown in tears, Grew weary with his doubts and fears. "I tell in vain! These rocks and sands Will yield no harvest to my hands; The best seeds rot in barren lands. My drooping vine is withering; No promised grapes its blossoms bring; No birds among its branches sing. My flock is lying on the plain; The heavens are brass—they yield no rain; The earth is iron—I tell in vain!" While yet he spoke a breath had stirred; "Hedonism," like the wind of bird, Had blown the words a voice he heard: "The germs and fruits of life must be Forever hid in mystery; Yet some celestial gifts I feel!" A mighty hand, once called thus thin, Must hang the cluster on the vine, And make the fields with harvest shine. Man can but work, God can create; But they who wait, and watch, and wait, Have their reward, though it come late. Look up to heaven, behold and hear, The clouds and thunders in thy ear. And answer to thy doubts and fears. He looked, and lo! a cloud-draped car, With trailing smoke and flames afar, Was rushing to a distant star. And every shining rock and plain Was raising up to meet the rain That came to clothe the fields with grain. And on the cloud he saw again The covenant of God with men, Re-written with his rainbow pen. When time and harvest shall not fail, And though all enemies assail, My faith and promise shall prevail.

Evil Use of Morphine.
The time is ripe, says the Syracuse Standard, for a crusade against morphine. As the narcotic is chiefly used by women, it will be proper for men to go forth in singing and praying bands, beseeching women to stop the horrid practice and druggists to cease from selling the preparation to confirmed morphine inebriates. But whatever be the best method of combating the evil, the course of habitual indulgence in morphine and opium is making its brand upon society. Sometimes contracted during illness, sometimes taken up to abate a longing for intoxicating liquors, sometimes adopted to allay nervous suffering, the deadly habit seldom deserts its victim. The sufferers from narcoticism through the use of these drugs may be numbered by tens of thousands. Every druggist has them among his customers. Many of them steal into the drug store with a cautious look, as if they feared they might be watched or their purpose would be read before they disclosed it; and others impart the business as a confidential one, or, often attempt to convey the impression that the narcotic is for another person. Nothing is more marked than the injurious effect which the practice exerts upon the moral faculties. The doses these wretched people learn to bear are sufficient to kill an ordinary person, and the quantity is increased from month to month until the suicidal work is completed. The fatal effect of such familiarity with the forms of opium often appears in a startling way when persons addicted to opium-eating prescribe their beloved medicine for others.

A Cheerful Item for Smokers.
A physician connected with the New York Health Department, in conversation with a reporter, remarked: "I am not prepared to say that a cigar can convey contagion, but I certainly am not prepared to deny it, and I put the question to you just as it comes. Why should it not be so? Cigar makers sit working at the tables with a vaccine scar upon them. What could be easier than that a bit of scab should fall upon the tobacco leaf and be rolled up in a cigar? As a matter of fact, we have found men at work who have broken out with the disease, and were rolling tobacco into cigars with their festering hands. The fever of the disease was in their breath. They were not inclined, even on our protests, to give up the work that supplied them with daily bread, and one could not expect from them any consideration for other people. There has been a great deal of small-pox among the tenement house cigar makers, and a large number of cigars have been given out that were made in rooms where persons suffering from the disease were sick and recovered, and we knew nothing about it."

TRUE MERRY ALWAYS WINS.—There is a constantly increasing demand for Brown's Iron Bitters. A druggist on Washington street reports the sale of 23 bottles the first month; 86 bottles the second month, and 140 bottles the third month; and not one complaint or failure to give entire satisfaction as being the very best health and life-giving medicine in all the world.

The Oneida Community.

The Oneida Community is a communistic society on Oneida Creek, in Lenox Township, Madison County, N. Y., about which much has been said and written, and which has some remarkable features. The founder of the organization was John Humphrey Noyes. He was born in Brattleboro, Vt., September 3, 1811, and graduated at Dartmouth College, when scarcely twenty years of age. At first he studied law, but he soon forsook Blackstone and turned his attention to theology, studying at Andover and New Haven, and was licensed to preach when he was twenty-two years old. In 1834 he experienced what he named "second conversion," and made an attempt at once to found a community at New Haven, which, however, was unsuccessful. Three years later he organized the existing association, at Putney, Vt., and the members removed to the present locality in 1847. The Community on Oneida Creek has a fine estate, several mills and manufacturing plants, and is reported to be in a prosperous condition. The cardinal principles of the Community are four in number: Reconciliation to God, salvation from sin, recognition of the brotherhood and equality of man and woman, and the community of labor and its fruits. The last-named principle embraces a scheme by which all the male and all the female members of the Community are held in a sense to be married to each other. This has led to the charge being made against them of being "free-lovers," but, says one writer, the system, as regulated by the "principles of sympathy," and being controlled by that free public opinion which constitutes the supreme government of the society, "is far from being amenable to the reproach of immorality in any ordinary sense of the word." These "Bible Communists," as they are styled, reject all rules of conduct except those which each believer formulates for himself, subject to the free criticism of his associates. They hold that the Mosaic law and ordinances were abrogated by the second coming of Christ, which Mr. Noyes places at 70 A. D., and at which time the reign of sin was concluded, and true believers have since been free to follow the indications of the Holy Spirit in all things, nothing being good or bad in itself.

Snow Sheds.
The wonderful snow sheds—tunnels—on the Central Pacific Railroad are of two kinds, one with very steep roofs and the other with flat roofs. They cost per mile from $8,000 to $12,000, and in some places where heavy masonry was needed the cost reached $30,000 a mile. They are firmly constructed to support a great weight of snow and to resist the rush of avalanches. Fire precautions are very thorough. Corrugated plates of iron separate the buildings into sections, and in the great ten mile section there are automatic electric fire-alarms. At the summit is an engine and tank always ready to flood the ignited spot in a moment. These sheds shut in the view of the great Sierras, but without them travel would be impossible. Sometimes five feet of snow falls upon them in a single day, and often thirty feet lies on the ground at one time, and in many places snow accumulates to the depth of fifty feet above these great wooden arches. [Engineering News.]

The Legislature is wasting its time upon local and private bills. Two-thirds of these should be thrown out and the other third relegated to the courts. The nation and the States are governed too much. This present General Assembly had, when it assembled, just five duties to do and then adjourned to elect a U. S. Senator, to redistrict the State, to provide a more efficacious method for the collection of taxes, to enlarge our State prison or build a branch, and, incidentally, to reform our prison system and to pass a good, sound registration law for cities having a population of five thousand and upward. It has elected a United States Senator. All the other questions remain, substantially untouched. We submit it to the gentlemen of the two houses, therefore, as men of sense, whether the result, so far, is not something of a discouragement to the public. [C. J.]

BALLOONISTS have a unique method of taking "soundings" to learn their distance from the earth when traveling in the air at night. A loud shout is given, and the seconds are counted until the echo from the ground is heard. From the time required for the return of the sound it is easy to compute the height of the "balloon."

"The Bible Doctrine of Hell."

This is the title of a 62-page, neatly printed little book that made its appearance here last week. While it is anonymous, the author is none other than Rev. Morris Evans, D. D., pastor of the M. E. Church, South, at this place. The most striking feature of the work is its heterodox character. The orthodox hell—the lake of fire and brimstone—has been demolished, and the equally orthodox wrath of God is converted into love. The old blood and thunder sermons, by which people are scared into the church, are deprecated, and those that picture a delightful heaven are put down in the same category. The substance of the book is that God is a kind being; man is left to avoid sin or commit it, as he pleases; the effects of sin are natural and hurtful, but not a visitation of the wrath of God; the sinner is cut off from joys which result from the practice of a Christian life, but not necessarily for all eternity, and certainly not in a lake of fire; the minister should not tell his audience dreadful stories of hell or enlarge on the beauties of heaven, but preach true, manly, Christian character. The orthodox world will most probably endeavor to sit squarely down on Dr. Evans, but in doing so they will encounter a right respectable accumulation of Hebrew, Greek and biblical learning. [Richmond Register.]

How Alligators Eat.
An alligator's throat is an animated sewer. Everything which lodges in his open mouth goes down. He is a lazy dog, and, instead of hunting for something to eat, he lets his victims hunt for him. That is, he lies with his great mouth open, apparently dead, like the possum. Soon a big bug crawls into it, then a fly, then several gnats and a colony of mosquitoes. The alligator don't close his mouth yet. He is waiting for a whole drove of things. He does his eating by wholesale. A little lizard will cool himself under the shadow of the upper jaw. Then a few frogs will hop up to catch the mosquitoes. Then more mosquitoes and gnats light on the frogs. Finally a whole village of insects and reptiles settle down for an afternoon picnic. Then all at once there is an earthquake. The big jaw falls, the alligator slyly blinks one eye, gulps down the entire menagerie, and opens his great front door again for more visitors. [Eli Perkins' Florida Letter.]

The right of the citizens to bear arms is not a right conferred upon the citizen to make himself a dangerous character and a menace to his fellow-citizens. When the citizen abuses the right granted, the right must be modified so as to remove the danger. The sale of deadly weapons must be restricted. At present gun-makers and pistol sellers sell these weapons to any body without asking any questions. That indiscriminate sale can be stopped. It must be stopped. Boys, for instance, have no business at all with revolvers. They are, however, allowed to buy them freely. They early get into the habit of carrying such weapons. They very frequently at an early age shoot some body. Under an electroplating of civilization we are degenerating into savagery. General weapon carrying is a declaration that the county is not governed by law. That is the natural inference, and honest citizens should seek to remove the foul imputation. [Courier-Journal.]

Why, Moses Hockheimer, on the next block, sells suits like those for $14. "Yaas, my friend, I know all about dot, and I tell you, vy he sells dem so cheap. Dey shrink—shrink like der deyful! Shust von trop of water and oop dey goes. You know dot pig Shim Jones, der carpenter? Vell, he buys a suit of Hockheimer last week and goes on a spree. He was trunk tree tays. Ebery night he sleep on ter sidevalk, and ebery night it rain. Dem gloose schruke ebery dime. Der fourt night der bolice run him in." "For being drunk, eh?" "For untescent exposure, my friend—dem gloose was bretty much all gone." A young friend of mine, says La-bouchere in the London Truth, was dining with his father a few nights ago. "George," said the fond parent, when they next met, "you took my overcoat instead of your own, and I regret to say that I found the pockets of your coat full of cigarettes and matches." "I discovered my mistake, father," replied the son, "directly I got outside, for I found the pockets of the coat I had on contained chocolate cream and three pairs of ladies gloves."

A Very Tall Duck Story.

A reliable gentleman at West Point writes as follows: "This is true. Some time since, while out ducking on Dividing Creek, a tributary of Chesapeake Bay, a hen duck known as the dipper species came within easy range of my gun. I discharged both barrels, completely covering and breaking her wing with No 4 shot. Being determined to capture the game, a friend and myself secured a boat and went in pursuit. Getting again in gun-shot reach, I discharged two more barrels, killing the duck at two appearances. We picked her up and removed feathers and entrails, cut her head off and put her in the water for the purpose of washing the blood off, when, to our astonishment, she swam away, giving us another pursuit, which was successful after some trouble. I can prove this." [Richmond Dispatch.]

A theatrical man at Chicago thought it would be smart to make a friend who slept with him believe that the smart man had smallpox. So he got up in the night, and with stage paint he painted his face with smallpox pustules, and went to sleep. The innocent man woke up in the morning and looked at his friend, and finding him broke out, he went out quietly and notified the health officers, and they came with an ambulance to take him to the pest-house. The smart fellow had to do some of the best acting he ever did in his life to keep out of the pest-house. He is not exactly clear whether it pays to be so almighty smart or not.

An extraordinary report comes from Wall Street to the effect that a bag containing five thousand dollars in gold burst while being carried through the street, the coin rolling everywhere, that a crowd of passers-by assisted in picking it up, and that the entire sum was returned to its original bearer. As the money was not counterfeit, and yesterday was not the first day of April, one of two things is certain—either there was no large operators in the crowd or the millennium is upon us. [N. Y. Herald.]

IRONWOOD TREE.—One of the hardest woods in existence is that of the desert ironwood tree, which grows in the dry wastes along the line of the Southern Pacific Railroad. Its specific gravity is nearly the same as that of lignumvitae, and it has a black heart so hard, when well seasoned, that it will turn the edge of an axe and can scarcely be cut by a well-tempered saw. In burning it gives out an intense heat.

The greatest outrage on public decency, and the meanest effort to muzzle the press, was made a few days ago in Frankfort, the perpetrator being no less a notorious personage than the Governor of Kentucky, whom the good people of the State elected to see that the laws were executed, not to break them after the manner of a cut-throat or a black-leg. The whole story is a nut shell is that Mr. Joseph Ekins, acting under orders from the head of his paper, the Louisville Commercial, went to Secretary of State Blackburn, and asked to be informed as to the number and amount of fines remitted against Louisville gamblers. On the flimsy excuse that he had not time to attend to such requests, he refused the young man, nor would he allow him to examine the books in his presence. In his dispatch to this paper the next day he told of the refusal and added the very natural supposition that there was evidently something which must not be brought to light, concealed in the lids of that book. Next day the Governor attacked the correspondent, and with stick in hand, delivered the most disgraceful volley of oaths at him ever strung together, threatening at the same time to break his back. The correspondent, respecting his age and position, fell back in good order, though he would have been justifiable in the eyes of the law in resorting to the most forcible means at his disposal to prevent the assault. But the crowning act of the great outrage is yet to be told. Jim Blackburn, by the grace of his brother Secretary of State, in company with a pal, laid in wait for the reporter at the telegraph office, and told him if he sent a word of what had passed between him and the Governor that day it would be at his own personal peril. (Well may the Commercial inquire "if there is a czar among us," and well may it add: We would be sneaking curs indeed if we allowed braves of any clique to fright us from our right or scare us from our duty. We denounce their conduct as a gross outrage on the special properties of their position, and on all the properties of civilized life; we insist on the right of the public to a knowledge of what public records contain, and we reiterate our opinion that the refusal to show a public record to the public gives proper occasion for suspicion that its publication would disclose facts not pleasant for the custodians of that record to have known.)

SEBASTIAN MASON, who sought notoriety by shooting at Guiteau last September, has just been tried by Court Martial on the charge and sentenced to be dishonorably discharged from the army, with the loss of all pay and allowance now due, and to be confined in the penitentiary at Albany, N. Y., at hard labor for eight years. A pretty severe, but withal a just sentence. Mason's business was to guard Guiteau and see that no harm came to him from mobs or outside force of any kind, but instead, he conceived of the cowardly and unsoldierly act to kill his prisoner and was only prevented therefrom by the unsteadiness of his aim. His act was meaner even than that of the miserable assassin, since it was devoid of any of the immediate dangers that it would be supposed would naturally attend the shooting of a President, in a public place, and the sentence ought to be carried to the very letter.

The republican members of the Legislature held a meeting Friday night, and resolved that "As the office of Clerk of the Court of Appeals is a non-political one and as this is an off year, it is inexpedient to nominate a candidate for that office." This is some consolation to McHenry, Jacob and the other two or three Colonels.

The latest journalistic bantling is the Louisville Sunday News, owned and edited by M. W. LaRue, an old and experienced newspaper man. It is very readable and we hope it may fill a long felt want in a city not very greatly noted for supporting newspapers.

SENATOR WILLIAMS has written to Senator Beck, that owing to sickness in his family, he will not be in Washington for a long time. Well, for the good he has, or ever will do in the Senate, it is all the same whether he is in Washington or Mt. Sterling.

An exchange says that Representative Stuart convulsed the House the other day by having a full-blown sunflower fastened on his breast. We should imagine it was very convulsing indeed.

SCOVILLE has retired from the Guiteau case, and the question arises: "Who will care for the assassin now?"

A LETTER written by Garfield to Secretary Chase during the war has just appeared in the New York Sun. In it, Garfield, who was his Chief of Staff, complains of the dilatory measures of Gen. Rosecrans, and although pretending to be a friend of that officer, sought to embarrass the Secretary against him. A republican writing to the Washington Post says: "To one who knew Garfield well this letter is no surprise. He was a treacherous, cowardly, a hypocritical man, selfish to the extreme, and not caring what happened so it did not happen to himself. General Rosecrans was, and is, worth to this country a thousand Garfields." * "It is high time, for the sake of our national common sense, the truth of history, and justice alike to the living and dead, that all this gush over Garfield should end. Millions of better and greater men have lived and died." * He was nothing but a professional office-seeker and professional politician. A failure as a preacher and a lawyer, he learned to string words together as a child does beads, and that was his stock in trade. No one can point to an original thought he ever uttered. * "He betrayed John Sherman at Chicago, as treacherously as Brutus did Caesar or Judas did Christ." These are bitter words to come from a man who professes to have known Garfield thoroughly, and shows how intensely the Stalwarts hate him.

SOME of the democratic papers are trying to excuse the Governor for his uncalculated behavior towards the correspondent of the Commercial, and this is done because the young man happens to represent a republican paper. But an outrage is an outrage no matter on whom it is committed, and Gov. Blackburn should be made to hang his head in shame for his disgraceful effort to play the bully.

The McElroy school bill which has passed the House gives the Commissioner one per cent. on the amount of school fund he distributes, which comes out of the fund. An additional $100 may be given him, but it must come out of the county levy. The bill is said to be finely drawn, and in decided improvement on the present law. It is also very lengthy.

A New York Court has just awarded a man $500 damages against a dentist, who, in extracting his tooth, let a piece of it drop down his windpipe. Let this be a fearful, awful warning to dentists to be more particular with the molars in the future.

The New York Herald has an editorial with the significant heading, "Lawyers and Buzzards," in which it endeavors to show the similarity existing between some of the members of that fraternity and that disgusting bird.

It begins to look like there was something to come of the Star-rotter cases. Brady, ex-Assistant P. M. General, indicted for conspiracy to defraud the government has been required to give bail in the sum of $20,000.

THE REAL NEWS.
The Louisville Post is eminently correct in saying Kentucky does not need a Superior Court as much as she needs a superior judge. [Hopkinsville News.

THEY WOULD FOR A FACT.
If it were not for the hope of being appointed marshals, collectors, storekeepers, gaugers and postmasters, republicans would be as scarce in Kentucky as mosquitoes in Labrador. [Breckinridge News.

LOCATING THE REAL SPLIT.
It seems that the McHenry-Jacob movement is creating a greater split in the republican than in the democratic party. The leaders and followers of the stalwarts are divided in their councils, some being for Jacob and some for running a straight-out republican. [E-town News.

THE YEAR OF JUBILEE.
All that prisoners have to do is to get some influential citizen to plead for them; the good Luke is ready to grant his pardon. From now until the end of the year of jubilee, when Luke the Good shall return to his own place in obscurity, Criminal Judges, Commonwealth's Attorneys, and grand and petit jurors may rest on their oars. The farce of going through so many trials has "become flat, stale and unprofitable." [Nicholasville Journal.

LONGS FOR A NOTICE.
Hello! what's the matter? No cranky democratic newspaper has called us a jack-horse or a luna-bug for two weeks! [Danville Tribune.

AND GETS ONE.
The silly Yankee who edits the republican picture paper at Danville, and hails from one of the back counties of Ohio, is saying all sorts of mean and miserable things about the democratic party. Indeed, the paper is filled with assertions which, coming from another source, would bring down upon the writer the just indignation of all democrats. But his obscurity is his protection, and so far he has failed to attract attention. His explanation, however, to the people of Danville is too funny to lose. After heaping all sorts of vituperations upon the democratic party, for fear of losing the printing of a horse or jack bill at home he explains: "All democrats who are living in Danville are exempted from whatever has been, or will be, said in our columns against their party. Our mission is not to offend our neighbors." Certainly this do take the bakery. [Richmond Register.

ANXIOUS TO KNOW.
The people of Kentucky, and particularly the Democratic party, who elected Gov. Blackburn, desire to know what reasons have influenced his extraordinary action in turning loose upon a community the most desperate and hardened criminals, and in remitting hundreds of thousands of dollars due the State by a few strokes of his pen. He should understand that in this country a public officer is a public servant, and that there is no "divinity that doth hedge" a governor. If he has forgotten this, it is not improper that he be reminded of it. [Louisville Post.

LEGISLATIVE.
A Joint Committee has been appointed to take in consideration the propriety of removing the Capital.
The House has passed a bill to exempt for ten years the jurors in the celebrated Green-Harris trial, from service on juries.
The new charter for Stanford, having passed both Houses, now only needs the signature of the Governor to make it a law.
Two of the three bills before the Legislature for the benefit of ex-Sheriff A. M. Feland of this county, have passed both Houses.
The resolution to adjourn on April 1st, was tabled in the House by a vote of 34 to 32. Mr. Hansford voted to remain in Frankfort.
There is a bill before the House, providing that hereafter there shall be no charge for patients sent to any of the Asylums in the State.
Senator Blain wants an appropriation of $100 to enclose the tomb of the first Governor of Kentucky, who remains buried on the Shelby farm in this county.
Col. Blain's bill to amend the road laws of Lincoln, Boyle and Garrard, was passed, as did his bill to amend the charter of the Hendersonville and Coffey's Mills Turnpike.
The Senate bill amending the Act for the Propagation of Food Fishes in the Waters of the State, and to furnish an adequate remedy for the enforcement of the same, was passed—yeas, 40; nays, 28.
A bill to allow sheriffs commissions as follows passed the House: Upon the first $5,000, ten per cent, and upon all above $5,000, five per cent. It does not apply to counties in which the gross amount of State revenue exceeds $20,000.
The auditor answered the commendum proposed to him by the Legislature: "Why did you not deduct pro tem Commonwealth's attorney's pay from salary of the regular officer?" by referring the body to a decision of the Court of Appeals which says: "The Constitution does not limit the prohibition to the salaries of circuit judges, but places the salaries of all public officers on the same footing in this respect."
Judge Hansford did himself no credit when he voted to table a resolution that His Excellency the Governor be requested to cause to be furnished this House the number and amount of the fines and forfeitures remitted by the present Executive, together with a brief statement of the principal reasons for such remission or pardon. The people want to know about this matter, and they also want a representative who thinks more of their interests than he fears the anger of the Executive.
Senator Blain writes us that 30 local bills have been passed for Lincoln alone, and when it is considered that there are 116 counties, the man that says the present legislature has done nothing, thereby shows that he does not know what he is talking about. Dear, dear Senator there is the trouble. The whole time has been taken up in amending turnpike charters, declaring crawfish branches navigable streams and amending an amendment to acts to the exclusion of more important matter. The Legislature has done but one important thing for which it is elected, so far as we can discover.

NOTES OF CURRENT EVENTS.
MacLean, the would-be assassin of Queen Victoria, has been committed for trial on a charge of high treason.
The Michigan Legislature, has appropriated $265,000 additional to the relief of the sufferers by last Fall's fires.
The severest snow-storm of the season prevailed in Wisconsin Friday afternoon and night. Railroads are blocked.
Seventeen millions in gold are to be transferred from the Philadelphia Mint to the Treasury at Washington, this week.
It is believed the President will pardon Sergeant Mason on the ground that he was not of sound mind at the time the shooting was done.
Senator Edmunds has reconsidered his first determination to refuse the Supreme Court appointment, and it is thought that he may yet accept it.
The Illinois prisoners recently condemned to be hanged will be allowed until the 27th inst. in which to appeal against the death sentences.
Two hours after a divorce from his wife, Wm. H. Hicks applied to the Cincinnati Probate Court yesterday for a license to be married again.
Guiteau has written an account of his trial as a supplement to his book "Truth." Scoville has the manuscript, and proposes to make a little money by the sale of the book.
The Senate has passed the bill limiting Chinese immigration to ten years, with an amendment prohibiting the naturalization of Chinese by any State or Federal Court.
Gen. Curtis, of New York, is to be tried on the charge of collecting political assessments from Custom-house and Post-office employees, for the benefit of the Republican party.
James T. Hazelrigg, the present Democratic nominee for County Judge, was elected last week to fill the unexpired term of Judge Garrett, the late incumbent, in Montgomery county.
The several operations for cancer of the tongue, performed by Senator Ben Hill, of Georgia, have brought no permanent relief, and his condition is now such that his recovery is despaired of.
Two boys named Galloway killed old Billy Southern, at McCowan's ferry, on Kentucky river, Friday night. A young lady saw the shooting and reported it when the Galloways were arrested.

MISS NELLIE, daughter of Hon. C. E. Bowman, Commissioner of Agriculture, by some mistake took a quantity of morphine for quinine, and at last accounts was lying in a comatose condition.
Hon. Wm. Berkele, of Garrard, Chairman of the State Central Committee, has called a meeting of the committee for the 29th instant, at Frankfort, to consider the question of a State Convention.
R. H. Cornwell, call loan Clerk of the Fourth National Bank of New York, has defaulted to the amount of $70,000. As the Bank has a surplus of over a million, no scare is created among the stock holders.
Major Thomas H. Hays, capitalist of Louisville, has assigned for the benefit of creditors to James G. Caldwell. Liabilities $35,000; assets $35,000. This step is due to the stringency of the money market, making it difficult to renew or carry existing debts.
Max Maretzky, director of the Cincinnati College of Music, has abruptly severed his connection with the college without resignation, claiming that the terms of his contract have been violated by the college authorities, and he goes to New York.
Friday morning, the steamer Sidney, en route from Cincinnati to Wheeling, when near Ripley, W. Va., burst her main steam pipe, and instantly killed Mrs. Little and grandson, Mayville, Ky., and fatally wounded Mrs. Stephenson, Portsmouth, Ohio, wife of the pilot of the boat. Many others were scalded and injured more or less.
An official statement from the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company shows that the gross earnings of the road for the month of February were $960,036 (about 2,025 miles of road operated, against $805,124 from 1,840 miles operated in February, 1881, an increase in earnings of $154,912, or nineteen and one-fourth per cent, and in mileage of 185 miles, or ten per cent.)
In many places the Mississippi is six to twelve miles wide, the flood extending thirty miles in each direction. In and around Greenville, Miss., the condition of affairs is most deplorable. The negro inhabitants of Northern Mississippi are living in terror, crouched up in the lofts of barns, gin-houses, and on the roofs of cabins. Hundreds of negroes who have managed to reach high ground are without food, and have to live on the carcasses of dead stock which come floating by. The government continues its distribution. It is not believed that the Mississippi will get back to its bed earlier than April 1st.

WAYNE COUNTY.
Monticello.
Mr. Sam Duncan sold his premises containing about 40 acres adjoining town, to James Tuggle, for $2,200.
Mr. R. W. Oats' family was increased by the advent of a son on the 1st. Born to the wife of Wm. Oats, a son, on the 5th.
One of the meanest acts that I have heard of being perpetrated in a long time, was that of some sneaking scamp going in the night time and destroying about 100 young apple trees, just beginning to bear, upon the premises of Mr. Reuben Barnett, Jr., in the Elk Spring Valley—a few nights ago.
The oil well on Otter Creek, I learn, is yielding about one barrel a day, of an extra article of lubricating oil, and the prospect is good that the capacity of the well will be increased to its original yield of 25 barrels per day. There is a rumor afloat that the well bored in Harnan's Creek, also contains quite a considerable depth of oil in the tube, as much as 400 or 500 feet, it is said.
The trial to decide the legality of a seizure of some thousand gallons of brandy belonging to J. W. Coffey, by U. S. officers in this county last year for alleged crookedness in the manufacture and management of same, has been decided against Coffey, in the U. S. Court at Louisville.
He not only loses the brandy, but the machinery and two acres of land adjacent to the distillery, is adjudged forfeited. This decision will totally ruin Coffey, financially.
There is a great deal of excitement among our citizens on account of a decision of the Appellate Court which nullifies the title to a great deal of land in the State. In this county, it seems that the early patents were generally for small tracts of 50 to 100 acres. In the course of time the original patentees sometimes, and sometimes other parties would take out warrants for larger surveys, and in locating would include the original smaller ones without definitely describing the miles and bounds of the contained patented surveys. Sometimes still larger surveys would include a number of smaller entries, &c. It seems that the decision of the Court alluded to, nullifies all entries that fail to accurately describe the contained lands in the patents. Some sharpers are investigating the records and re-entering lands that have been held for years by parties that considered their claims valid. Hence the excitement at present and prospective litigation all over the country.

To Correct a Wrong Impression.
RICHMOND JUNCTION, KY., March 11, 1882.—In your account of the killing of Charles Hutchinson, you say "the mangled remains were picked up, placed in the caboose, and taken to his mother." As the public may construe this statement as meaning the remains were delivered to the family in the condition they were when found, I desire to state that the body was neatly dressed and placed in a casket, and everything done which possibly could be to alleviate the shock to the distressed family before the remains were delivered. Very truly yours, C. D. Ayer, Agent L. & N. R. R.

FEES AND DOCTORS.—The fees of doctors is an item that very many persons are interested in just at present. We believe the schedule for visits is $3, which would tax a man confined to his bed for a year, and in need of daily visits, over $1,000 a year for medical attendance alone! And one single bottle of Hop Bitters taken in time would save the $1,000 and all the year's sickness. [Post.

A GREAT PUBLIC SALE!
By virtue of a deed of trust executed to me by Col. Joseph Shelby, Jr., and his wife, on the 20th day of April, 1881, I will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the premises in Lincoln Co., Ky., ON THURSDAY, MARCH 30th, 1882,
—THE—
"Crab Orchard Springs"

Property. The place has been famous for 50 years, and needs no puff. The waters are unequalled in variety or virtue. The grounds, beautifully laid out and shaded, embrace 75 acres. The new brick Hotel is one of the best and most costly in the country. It is only 5 hours by rail from Louisville and Cincinnati, or from Knoxville and Chattanooga. Everything is in readiness for the coming season, and the Hotel could be thrown open at a week's notice to 500 guests.
On one hand let there be no doubt. The sale will, in good faith and with absolute certainty, be made on the day announced, and the highest bidder will get the property. Immediate possession and a perfect title are guaranteed the purchaser.
TERMS.—One-third of purchase price, cash, the balance in 6 and 12 months, in equal installments, with 6 per cent. from day of sale. Bonds required with approved personal security, and a lien also retained. The purchaser will, however, be permitted to pay off his bonds and the accrued interest at any time before maturity.
W. G. WELCH,
Stanford, Ky., March 9, 1882.

PERSONAL.

—Col. W. T. KNOTT, of the L. & N. R.
R., is in town.

—Miss HATTIE BIRD is visiting the Misses Thurmond.

—N. W. DUFF, Esq., has been commissioned P. M. at Shelby City.

—Mr. J. W. McALISTER went to Har-rodsburg yesterday. Look out Professor!

—Mrs. C. T. HYDE, the bride of our lively young Carriage Manufacturer, arrived Saturday.

—Mr. E. P. OWLEY has gone to the city to stock his store, which he will open about April 1st.

—Miss LAURA ENOLEMAN has been sick for some weeks, and the doctors have missed her not a little.

—Mr. J. G. TOLES, foreman of that beautifully printed paper, the Danville Tribune, was in to see us yesterday.

—Dr. F. O. YOUNG, of Lancaster, was here on business connected with the examination of applicants for pensions, yesterday.

—MR. CHARLES W. METCALF, JR., of Centre College, was up on a visit to his brother, Thomas W. Metcalf, Friday and Saturday.

—MR. AND MRS. GEO. H. BRUCE were called to Irvine, Sunday, by the news of the death of a little infant of the latter's sister, Mrs. W. O. Park.

—LT. J. WESLEY JACOBS, son of the late Superintendent of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum of Danville, has been promoted to Captain in the Quartermaster's Corps.

—MISS MARIE AND GEORGE BARNES, daughters of the evangelist, won all hearts by their gentleness, vivacity and unobtrusive piety. —Bowling Green Democrat.

—MR. HUGH REID, who is to graduate as an M. D. in the Jeffersonian Medical College in Philadelphia, the latter part of this month, has been tendered the position of assistant physician at the Presbyterian Hospital of that city. It is quite a compliment to him, and if he accepts it will be worth years of practice elsewhere.

LOCAL MATTERS.

NEW Spring Calicoes at Robert S. Lytle's.

DICK SHANKS, for burglary, was held for further trial in the sum of $50.

A WALNUT bedstead, a high-seat baby chair and 200 ale bottles, for sale. Apply to D. W. Vandever.

MR. A. S. MYERS bought of Mr. Peyton Embury, his stable and lot behind the National Bank block for $300.

OWING to the scarcity and high price of beef, I am compelled to sell the best round and sirloin steak at 12 cents. J. T. Harris.

MR. JEFF. M. SALLER, an enterprising and wealthy gentleman of Monticello, has purchased of Mr. Robert McAlister, a half interest in Lincoln Mills, for $10,500.

We can't wait on those who are indebted to us any longer, and intend putting their accounts in the hands of an officer if not settled immediately. B. Mattingly & Son.

REMEMBER we are headquarters for Flour, Meal and family supplies of all kinds. Best straight Flour $4.25; Patent, $4.50; straight family, $4.00. McAlister & Bright.

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL was eleven years old on the 1st day of March. We are getting along in years so fast that we will soon be like the ancient maiden, ashamed to tell our age.

MR. B. K. WEAVER has a new lot of beautiful and genuine Oil Paintings in gift frames which he sells very low. Also the best and prettiest Chromes, Cabinet Photograph Frames, &c.

Now that we have a new charter, we trust our Councilmen will see that our streets are put in better shape. It is a disgrace that they should be allowed to remain in their present condition.

THE entertainment at the College, Friday night, is spoken of very highly by those who attended. The little ladies acted their parts in the characters and in other characters very nicely, and the programme was much enjoyed.

ESTATE CENTENIAL.—We are in receipt of the following, which explains itself: "You are invited to attend the exercises which will be held at Richmond, Kentucky, on the 20th of March, 1882, which is the One Hundredth Anniversary of the Battle of Little Mountain, fought near Mt. Sterling, when Capt. James Estill fell."

IRISH POTATOES at McAlister & Bright's $1.25 per bushel.

NEW YORK FAIRY ROSE, Burbank and Hoover Potatoes at W. H. Higgins'.

QUARTERLY COURT is in session but there are few contested cases for trial.

MR. R. CARSON, the keeper, tells us that of the fifty inmates of the Poor House, but three can read or write.

PARTIES needing corn can be supplied at Lincoln Mills at any time with any amount from a bushel to 100 barrels, from $4 to $4.25 per barrel.

MR. G. M. NUNNELLEY has employed J. T.
Harris to run the Commercial Hotel for him during the year 1882. Any person calling on him will be accommodated in the best style.

BUFFALO CEMETERY is very well kept and presents a neat appearance, but would it not be a good idea for those interested to set out a lot of trees in it? It would take away that desolate look that it has in Spring and Summer time.

FRIGHTS ON C. & S. R. R.—For the information of those who wish to go South on the C. & S. R. R. without waiting twelve hours for a passenger train, we have it from headquarters that freight trains, which carry passengers past Danville Junction going South, at 7 A. M., 12:30 P. M., and 3 P. M., daily.

MR. VERNON.—F. S. Brown, the "Number Nine" of the Cincinnati Enquirer, was in Mt. Vernon several days last week investigating the details of the Sigman murder and reporting it for his paper. Col.
S. M. Burdett, W. O. Bradley and Judge George Denny passed up yesterday to take part in the trial of Bishop, Hysinger and Henderson for the murder of the Sigman women, which occurs to-day. The former will prosecute, the two latter defend.

STANFORD AWAY AHEAD.—The Louisville Commercial has the following: "Sharon, Massachusetts, is on record as the healthiest town in the United States; only twenty-five persons died out of its population of 1,500 last year, and seven of these were infants." Stanford has more inhabitants than Sharon, and yet she only had 11 deaths during the year 1881. The Commercial will please put us right on the record.
Stanford is, without doubt, the healthiest place in the world.

BURGLARY.—Sunday night thieves broke into the store of Ben King, at South Fork Trenton, in this county, and took therefrom some $600 in goods of various kinds. It is supposed that the thieves were traveling in a wagon, as its tracks were followed as far as the Buffalo Cemetery. Mr. Spoon-am reported that a covered wagon had camped under the thicket, and in a ravine not far from his house, and Sheriff Men-dels, with a writ hurried thither yesterday morning, but on arriving at the place he could find no trace of a wagon, and Mr.
Spoonam had been mistaken. So away goes this clue.

THOSE BONES.—Referring to the box of bones which was plowed up near town last week, an account of which we gave in our issue of Tuesday, an old gentleman remarked to us yesterday that we were right in supposing that the bones were the remains of a "subject," but were wrong as to who dissected it. He said that the body was that of Bob King, a negro, who was hung near town some 30 years ago for killing his wife. "I recollect about it very well," he continued, "Dr. Montgomery employed a man to get the stiff the night of his burial, who promptly filled his contract.
The body was deposited in an old house near where the bones were found, and there on a rough table Dr. Montgomery and Dr. A. H. Huffman, now of Peabody, Kansas, carved him up. The bottles found in this box, I suppose, were emptied of their contents during the dissecting and thrown into the box with the bones to get them out of the way."

WE ran across Col. T. W. Varson, yesterday, and knowing that he had just returned from Frankfort, we enquired of him concerning the apportionment. "This District," said he, "if no protests are made, will be composed of Anderson, Mercer, Washington, Boyle, Casey, Pulaski, Lincoln, Garrard, Madison, Jackson, Laurel and Rockcastle, and just as sure as it is, Bill Bradley will be for the next ten years the representative from it. They are laying off the Districts by the vote cast for President, which is not the proper way at all. They figure by that on a good democratic majority, whereas if they were to take any district or county contested election they would find that the district as I have just named, would be decidedly republican. I have had experience in apportioning the State and know that we have elected the last democratic representative in this district for many a year, unless the Committee will be wise enough to change their calculations." As usual, the Col. got excited, and fearing the stick which he brandished uncomfortably near our head might hit, we retired. But the Col. is right and we protest against the Legislature doing any thing so suicidal to the party.

RELIGIOUS.

—Quarterly meeting at the Methodist Church on the 25th and 26th.

—Miss Lizzie Hutchinson united with the Baptist Church Sunday night.

—The meeting at the Christian Church closed on Sunday night with 45 accessions.
Elders Hurst, Sharrard and Blake did the preaching. —[Vanceburg (Ky.) Courier.]

—Dr. Cox, who was born at Cox's Gap, this county, and at an early age moved West, but who is now connected with the Bible College at Lexington, will preach at the Christian Church next Sunday at 11 A. M.

—Mr. Barnes has achieved a signal victory in Paris. Col. Craddock, after a hundred years of service in the army of the devil, is the first man to surrender and will hereafter battle in the cause of the Savior. "Praise the Lord."

—Elder Shull, of the Apostolic Times, preached at the Christian Church twice on Sunday. His sermons are much commended, and we can say that he possesses one very excellent trait, that of knowing when he is through, and when to stop.

—Gen. Abe Buford, for years a great sinner than Bob Ingersoll, and Mr.
Warren Wiley, also a very hardened old sinner of the devil, have lately professed religion. For years a bitter feud has existed between them, and as the saying is, they were at dagger's point with each other. Last week, as we learn from the Midway Clipper, they met, and filled with the love of God, each approached and greeted the other cordially, when a full reconciliation ensued. This is the kind of religion we used to read about, and it is the only kind that's worth a cent.

LAND, STOCK AND CROP.

—Business failures last week 148 against 128 the week before.

—W. T. Baughman sold to Jno. M.
Hall, 103 ewes, 40 lambs thrown in, at $2.85.

—J. C. Bohon sold to Capt. B. F. Powell a pair of oxen for $100, and another pair to W. H. Hays for $110.

—F. W. Albright is shipping large lots of baled hay, for which he receives 85 cents per hundred on the cars here.

—New Jersey farmers have discovered that a couple of goats running with a flock of sheep will protect the latter from dogs.

—A promising young filly belonging to John W. Engleman, snatched herself so severely in jumping a fence, that she had to be killed. She was valued at $80.

—Some of the Southern newspapers are taking consolation in the fact that the overlooked lands will be enriched by food deposits, and that the prospects for a good cotton crop are fair.

—Wheat never looked better than it does at present for the time of year. It is fully as far advanced as it usually is in May, and many farmers have turned their sheep upon it to prevent its jointing too soon.

—J. M. & F. Reid sold 240 acres of land in the West End, known as the Sain Reid place, to George W. Riffe, at $45. J. M.
Reid also sold to same party a house and lot of ten acres adjoining the above land for $1,000.

LINCOLN COUNTY.

Hustonsville.

—Bring your carriage to Matson for repainting and trimming. Your horse needs a coat of paint; he can put it on.

—Green & Williams occupy most of the street and all the sidewalk with their immense stock of wagons, plows, harrows, wheelbarrows, &c.

—All the vacant houses have been rented by Green & Williams for the storage of their bargains, harness, saddles, seeds, furniture and general farming machinery.

—Green & Williams received on Saturday a car load of furniture of latest styles and elegant get up, comprising every thing necessary for housekeeping in all its ramifications.

—Last Thursday will be remembered as the day when so many of our young men got "evicted." It "took" effectually in every case. Some saw snakes, notwithstanding the coolness of the weather.

—At the sale of J. W. Allen, on Saturday.—H. T. Bush, auctioneer.—Bacon shoulders brought 11c; sides, 14c; hams, 14c; corn in the crib, $4.50; wheat oats, per hundred, $2.80; hay, per cwt., 90c; horses, $60 to $145; buggy, $90.

—The evanescence of popular fame, grandeur and glory—the unreality of popular applause and adulation—is strikingly illustrated in the history of current events.
Garfield, the admired, the honored, the well-loved, the idolized of a few weeks ago —the man whose name and reputation was a sacred national heritage—is now denounced by a member of his own party, in the public prints, as selfish, insincere, superficial, false and a coward. Grant, who "heard every trumpet of Fame"—whose praise was on every tongue—who had fair to go down in history as the brightest ornament his country ever won—Grant, who was twice the recipient of the highest honors his country could bestow—Grant who made a triumphal progress around the civilized world, receiving honors and ova-tions from Serfs and Kings, and then returned to grateful rest and luxurious opulence—is now (unjustly, no doubt), sneered at as the bankrupt gambler in stocks and funds. —Verily "the fashion of the world passes away."

—As the floral season approaches we are carried back to youthful tastes and memories. In early life I loved the honest sunflower. Many a battle have I fought against a so-called cultivated taste over the merits of this my early love. But I have never faltered in my fealty. Even since it has been banished by the decree of fashion from our more pretentious communities, I have hailed it with delight as it adorned some humble home in the more rural regions, turning its loved and beaming face steadily toward the great source of its brightness and its beauty—gazing on him steadily, and as I imagine, trustingly and gratefully as he makes the circuit of the heavens, and thus presenting itself as an emblem of true and trusting and confiding and reliant piety. And now comes Oscar Wilde, the sage, the poet, the philosopher, the esthete, and plants my modest protégé on the pedestal of the pure, the beautiful, the true—rescues it from the oblivion to which proud fashion had doomed it, and given it an immortality—and me a triumph.

—The ladies did their part nobly at their entertainment on Friday night. The ornamentation of the hall—the decoration of the tables—the lavish and elegant display of choice and tempting viands—and above all the fairy fittings and sparkling beauty of the young lady attendants commanded the highest praise. It is to be regretted that, after all their preparation, the thing was not financially a success. This resulted in part from a rush upon the supper room in which it is thought many got in without the embarrassing formality of a ticket. It is said, too—though it is too monstrous for belief—that some young gentlemen retained their tickets, and after leaving the table sold the tickets to other patrons at a discount of 10 per cent. The Rinkers made a very pretty exhibition. I did not witness the contest for prizes. I am surprised that this amusement is so popular. Skating on ice, where the performers glide lightly as sylphs, and noiselessly as phantoms, to the soft music of the ringing skates presents a scene of perfect enchantment; but the rollers on a resonant floor can be suggestive of nothing more harmonious—or less disastrous—than "the wreck of matter and the crush of worlds."

The idea of a young lady, bright, and beautiful, and gentle, and lovable, careering upon those crashing clogs, is intensely unpoetical.

GARRARD COUNTY.

Lancaster.

—R. E. Noel has sold his farm to Mr.
Finnell, of Kirksville.

—Landreth's Garden Seeds, in bulk and papers, fresh and genuine, at Geo. D. Burdett & Co's.

—H. C. Kauffman is a candidate for re-election for County Attorney of Garrard county, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

—J. W. West's oldest boy fell from a buggy Sunday afternoon, and the vehicle containing three persons passed over his body, but fortunately he was not hurt.

—Misses Sallie and Lillie Noel have formed a partnership with Miss Laura Smith. The will combine the millinery and dress making business in the room recently occupied by W. B. Noel.

—Geo. D. Burdett & Co., of Lancaster offer canned goods at the following low prices: Yamouth Corn, per dozen, $1.50; 3 lb. standard Tomatoes, $1.75; 2 lb. do., $1.50; 3 lb. Kessett Peaches, $3.25; 2 lb. do., $2.50; Pine Apples, Apricots, &c., at equally low figures. Give them a call.

—Wm. Herndon, Chairman of the Republican County Committee, called a meeting of the Committee for Saturday, p. m., to consider the claims of various candidates for county offices, but as the call was not sufficiently circulated, only a few answered, whereupon the meeting adjourned to meet in County Court-room at 1:30 p. m., March 25.

—Mr. A. G. Lackey has returned to his Missouri home. Geo. Denny returned from Louisville, Friday, where he was engaged for the plaintiff in the suit of Sellers vs. Dillon. Sellers secured a verdict for $600 and costs. —[The reporter that Robt Willis, formerly of this place, but more recently an agent for the Singer Sewing Machine Company, and located at Har-rodsburg, had abandoned his wife, a daughter of Capt. Singleton, of this place, and skipped out with another woman. — Col. W. O. Bradley has returned from Washington where he has been in the interest of some of his office-seeking friends
..... Miss Marguerite Letcher, of Nicholasville, is visiting at Judge Owsley's.
William G. Owsley is clerking in the store Davis & Joseph. Mr. Ros. Denton, who has been confined to his bed since January 1st, is improving.

BOYLE COUNTY.

Danville.

—Circuit Court will convene again on Wednesday for the trial of several cases that were passed, and will adjourn finally on Saturday.

—Hon. Paul J. Doneghy, who has been at home sick for about a week, will return to Frankfort on Wednesday if he continues to improve. He will take with him the profound impression that a vast majority of the people desire the repeal of the "fish law" and the defeat of the dog law.

—The Wizard Oil men are here in all their glory. They have a splendid wagon, six magnificent dapple-gray horses, and music of a quality that is rarely excelled.
They have an orator, too, with a face and form like an Adonis and an eloquence that almost convinces his hearers that it is their duty to be sick in order to give this wonderful Wizard an opportunity to heal them.

—Harrison Scott, colored, in the employ of Wm. F. Davis, of this county, was arrested on Saturday night for stealing a mule from his employer. His trial occurred this morning, when it was shown that Harrison only took the mule, without permission, to ride to town, and was on his way back when arrested. So instead of a term at Frankfort, he got off with thirty days in the work-house.

—On Saturday evening as Mrs. R. P.
McGowwin, her infant and nurse entered her rockaway for a ride, the horse took fright and ran away. The girl with the babe in her arms jumped out and both escaped unhurt. Mrs. McGowwin remained a while longer trying to check the animal, but finding herself unable to do so, also sprang out and was severely bruised.
The horse then ran about a square further, smashed the vehicle against a lamp-post and soon after checked.

—Evan Tucker was at this term of the Circuit Court, sentenced to the penitentiary for one year for burg stealing. Evan and Mrs. Tucker had seven little pledges of affection which Mrs. Tucker abandoned as soon as Evan was lodged in jail. The children found homes at various places, and among them one named Emily at Ann Guest's. This morning Emily was brought before the police judge, and complained lodged against Ann Guest for brutally beating her. The child's body showed marks of a severe whipping. The trial will take place this morning. All the parties are negroes.

PULASKI COUNTY.

Somers.

—There were over 1,700 votes cast in the republican primary.

—The Reporter has enlarged to a sixteen column, and has returned to its first love a "patent" inside.

—Elder J. F. Rowe, of Ohio, and J. L.
Allen, of Danville, began a protracted meeting at the Christian Church Sunday.

—An Ohio man will soon bring 500 fine sheep to his farm of 600 acres in this county, and expects to realize big profits on raising that useful animal.

—The firm of McBeath & Owens, which has been considered a very strong one, has been forced to assign. The liabilities are set down at $30,000; assets as yet not ascertained. The principal creditors are Louisville and Cincinnati merchants. Both members of the firm in making the assignment give up all their individual property which is particularly hard on Mr. W. C.
Owens, who had a fine property devised him by his father, and who was thought to be one of the wealthiest young men in this part of the State.

A CROSS BABY.—Nothing is so conducive to a man's remaining a bachelor as stopping for one night at the house of a married friend and being kept awake for five or six hours by the crying of a cross baby. All cross and crying babies need only Hop Bitters to make them well and smiling. Young man, remember this.—

Desirable House and Lot
—IN STANFORD—
FOR SALE!

I offer for sale privately my House and Lot, conveniently located, in the West end of Stanford.
The lot has, besides the dwelling and out houses, a cottage suitable for a small family, and the whole lies in such a way that several more cottages could be built, giving to each a good yard and garden. Persons desiring such property will please call on or address me at Stanford, or apply to W. P.
Walton, of the IRRADIAN JOURNAL.
